

ROULETTE

Roulette is a fascinating game that provides exciting action with its spinning wheel and bouncing white ball. A Double-Zero (00) Roulette wheel has thirty-eight (38) equally spaced compartments on the wheel with thirty-six (36) numbers from 1 to 36, 0 and 00. A Single-Zero (0) Roulette wheel has thirty-seven (37) equally spaced compartments on the wheel, with only a 0. The numbers are alternately colored Red and Black with 0 and 00 colored Green.

The Roulette table layout is numbered and colored the same as the Roulette wheel. The game begins when you place your bets with roulette chips on any number or combination of numbers on the Roulette table. Roulette chips come in a variety of colors and are purchased in stacks of twenty (20). The value of each chip is determined by the amount you pay for a stack.

The Roulette wheel rotates in one direction while the Dealer spins a small white ball in the opposite direction. You may place bets on any number, combinations of numbers or sections of numbers, Red or Black colors, Odd or Even numbers or 0 and/or 00, where applicable, with colored Roulette chips. Bets may be placed until the dealer announces, "No more bets." The exact placement of the chip(s) determines the bet being made. Each Player is responsible for the correct positioning of their wager on the layout regardless of whether the bet is placed by the Dealer.

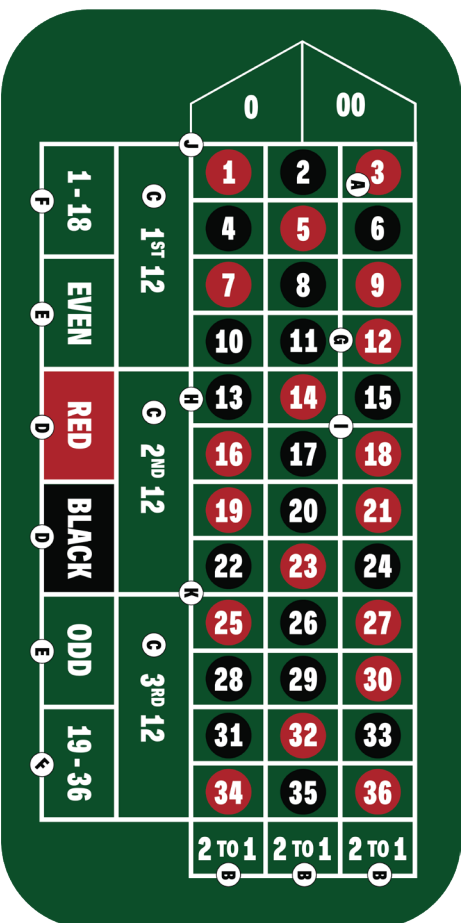

After the ball falls into a number on the Roulette wheel, the Dealer calls out the winning number and places a marker on that number on the layout. All losing bets are collected and winning bets are paid.

If the ball comes to rest in a zero (0) or double-zero (00), players wagering on any even-money bets shall surrender one-half (1/2) of the bet and remove the remaining half.

When the house offers the option of playing Single-Zero (0) Roulette on a Double-Zero (00) wheel, the double-zero will not be an available wager. If the roulette ball falls into the compartment marked Double-Zero (00), the spin will be declared void and the wheel respun. Wagers on Red, Black, Odd, Even, 1 to 18 and 19 to 36 shall be lost if the ball falls into the compartment marked zero (0).
